It takes at least a minute or two for the AV5000 to drain it's power once turned off. I initially bought the SONY paired with the TAE9000-ES having done much research and decided that was the best bang for my buck. Now the SONY retails for $1300 and the B&K for $1300, so for the same retail price I got an amp that leaves the SONY for dead. ...

Have the av5000 amp, sounds really good. Runs a little warm and basically quiet. The only time I hear any hum is when it is off since it is attached to the ref 20 & turns on that way with the cord connected. Really like it even though had some problems with the ref 20, I am on my 3rd one. Only advice to give about b&k buy from a good dealer who ...
